

I brought lots of things from home to do during my video EEG.

The food in the hospital comes on a tray, three times a day. (I'm glad my mom brought some snacks from home.) Even though I eat turkey sandwiches and chips at home all the time, it looked different in the hospital. Maybe the tray made the food look different to me.

This is a picture of a hospital room, with my bed and a bed for my mom.

You're not on camera when you use the bathroom. That was good news!

These are pictures of the TV,
the remote control, the telephone,
the DVD player with a Playstation 2.
There are sleep rooms if two people
are staying with you.
