

What to expect from your Obstetrician during Labor and Delivery

Congratulations on your pregnancy! We are honored to care for you during this special time.

During your pregnancy, you will usually see your chosen or primary obstetrician, or OB, for your checkups. Our goal is to give you consistent, thoughtful, and personal care from your first visit through the birth of your baby.

How Delivery Works in the Hospital

We try to have your primary OB deliver your baby whenever possible.

- During regular office hours, Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., your primary OB will be at your delivery if they are available.
- At night and on weekends, 1 of our 4 OBs is on call for deliveries.
- The OB on call may not be your primary OB.

This on-call plan helps make sure you have:

- An OB available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Safe care in the hospital always.
- A rested obstetrician who can focus on your delivery.

All our OBs follow the same care standards. They can also see your medical history. You will always be cared for by a trusted member of our OB team. In rare cases, the Sequoia Hospital OB outside of our group may participate in your delivery. This helps make sure you and your baby get safe care when you need it.
